Top researchers issue call for global action to reduce impact of periodontal disease

A health-policy paper in the Journal of Clinical Periodontology (JCP), the EFP’s scientific journal, issues a call for global action to reduce the impact of periodontal diseases. The paper, “Impact of the global burden of periodontal diseases on health, nutrition and wellbeing of mankind: A call for global action,” was written by four international experts including JCP editor Maurizio Tonetti and EFP past president Søren Jepsen. Their recommendations have been endorsed by 50 national and international societies of periodontology, including the EFP.

READ MORE

French perio society joins European Projects Committee

The French Society of Periodontology and Oral Implantology (SFPIO) will join the EFP’s new European Projects Committee after a rapid rise in its membership means that it qualifies as a “large society”.

READ MORE

Single immediate implants survive well but can lead to aesthetic complications – JCP Digest

A five-year prospective study of single immediate implants in the aesthetic zone concluded that this kind of implant has a high survival rate and limited marginal bone loss in the long term.

READ MORE

SEPA congress brought together 4,500 professionals for three days of top-level presentations
The Spanish Society of Periodontology and Osseointegration’s 51st annual congress was one of the biggest events of its kind outside the EFP’s triennial EuroPerio congresses, bringing together around 4,500 periodontists and other oral-health professionals for three days of presentations, workshops, and lectures.

READ MORE

All the news from European Gum Health Day 2017

Twenty-seven of the EFP’s 30 national societies of periodontology took part in European Gum Health Day on May 12. They organised a vast range of awareness-raising activities and captured a lot of media coverage, taking the message of “fighting periodontal disease together” to millions of people.

READ MORE

Video of the month: Michèle Reners announces EuroPerio9

There is just over a year to go until EuroPerio9 takes place in Amsterdam. Michèle Reners, chair of the event’s organising committee, invites you to take part in the world’s biggest congress in periodontology.

VIEW VIDEO

GET THE LATEST NEWS FROM THE EFP AT www.efp.org/newsupdate